

FEEDBACK on PEG LIGNANO 2013

Why was it worth participating to the PEG/EYP? List 3 reasons and explain

- 1 To improve fluency of the English language
- 2 To meet new people from different parts of Italy
- 3 To learn the rules of formal debate, formal writing and formal derss code

What were the drawbacks of PEG LIGNANO 2013? List them and explain

- 1 The tight schedule with long committee hours and poor equipment (Internet, PCs).
- 2 Not enough spare time and sleeping time
- 3 The cost which should be funded by our school

Were Lignano and Ge.Tur a good location for PEG Italy? Yes/no, why?

Yes, because a tourist seaside resort is suitable for such activities. It was a good location: clean, comfortable, relaxing with all the necessary facilities. In addition, the spacious rooms forced teenagers to live together and relate to each other. The only weak point was food: edible but not delicious.

Would you recommend this experience to others? Why?/Why not?

I certainly recommend it because it was an unforgettable experience. I learnt to work under pressure, to control the emotional tension and fatigue. Besides, I improved my speaking skills in English.

Was the preparation to PEG/EYP effective? Mention cooperation with peers and tutor (ds)

The preparation we received at school was useful and complete (thanks, teacher D. Savonitto), yet our cultural knowledge was limited and our level of English satisfactory but not great. There is margin for improvement in the future. Cooperation with our peers was positive. All's well that ends well.

If PEG has been a significant experience in your life, define your new attitude to English, foreign policy, cooperative work, life projects.

I found PEG a truly significant experience, especially for what concerns cooperative work, towards which I was a little skeptical before attending PEG. I would like to attend next year's EYP as well in order to keep training my English and to deepen my international horizons. Now I can better understand Europe's economic and political situation: I'm not a citizen of my country but a citizen of the world.
